

Your Lenzetto Treatment Guide

You have been given this guide as you have been prescribed Lenzetto for symptoms of the menopause, which result from a decline in your oestrogen levels. Please refer to this guide for the key points to remember when using Lenzetto.

You should carefully read the patient information leaflet that comes in the Lenzetto pack for more information, including step-by-step application instructions. Check with your doctor or pharmacist if you are not sure how to use Lenzetto.

Do not dispose of your Lenzetto carton as you will need this to track your treatment

Avoid skin-to-skin contact with the application area

Before using a new Lenzetto device for the first time, you must prepare (or prime) the applicator. The patient information leaflet includes step-by-step preparation/priming instructions

Avoid using sunscreen on the area of skin where you intend to spray Lenzetto. If you need to use sunscreen, apply it at least one hour before using Lenzetto

Do not tilt the Lenzetto device. It should be held in the upright position when sprayed

One spray (containing 90 microliters of Lenzetto) is the recommended starting dose. If your menopause symptoms persist after four weeks of continuous treatment, you should see your doctor to discuss how your symptoms are being managed. It could be that the dose is not high enough, and your doctor may increase your dose to two or three sprays per day

Lenzetto should be sprayed in the same position(s) along the inner forearm each day*

Do not rub Lenzetto in after being sprayed

Lenzetto dries in around 2 minutes. Wait until the spray has dried before getting dressed

You can wash the area where you sprayed Lenzetto one hour after application

If you are having blood tests taken as part of your menopause management, let your clinician know which arm your Lenzetto is routinely applied to. They will then take blood samples from the alternative arm

* If you have difficulty applying to the inner forearm, Lenzetto may also be applied to the inner thigh.

Lenzetto[®]

Lenzetto is a hormone replacement therapy (HRT) treatment that replaces the hormone oestrogen in women who are experiencing symptoms associated with oestrogen deficiency after the menopause.
